Webpages of ISA Maharashtra Section

Our Parent Body (ISA HQ) had designed the main Website in such a manner that any ISA Section, including Student Section, can create their own Web pages. Unless a section goes for its exclusive Site (which normally out sourced at a cost) the facility provided here is very useful and it is FREE. However, very few sections take advantage of this and, as a result, most of the section Pages remain dormant.

This year (2012-13) ISA Maharashtra Section has made use of the facility to the maximum extent and this can be considered to be a great achievement to break through the inertia. All the major activities have been covered in different documents and uploaded here. Since we have published quite a few media in this year, naturally one will find some repetitions. On the left pane, just below 'Home' you will find 'InTech' an exclusive link for all our e-Journals. Below this you will see '2012-13 ALL UPLOADS' which is the main Menu and below this main menu (with this intro you are reading), you can find sub-menus (links) that will open the subject page - major items that we wanted to share in this Site.

We practically started very late (September 2012) for this 'time-consuming' task and at the end of closing the year in June, I thank myself for getting the authority of 'web master' from ISA HQ in the beginning.

I hope the next EC will make further improvement by regular update and new uploads.

Thanks
