MARCH 2001

“General Cancer Awareness & Prevention”

By Sandra Finestone of Hoag Hospital

Presentation:

Sandra was diagnosed with breast cancer in 1983. Realizing the need for a support system for the husbands of women with breast cancer, she became active in many breast cancer organizations and became a popular guest speaker for support groups. Formerly an accountant, she earned a doctorate in psychology after her recovery. Sandra is currently associated with the Hoag Cancer Center. The presentation will discuss cancer prevention, detection and treatment of skin, colon, prostate, breast and lung cancer. Handouts will be provided.

Speaker:

Sandra Finestone, Psy.D is coordinator of Cancer Patient Services at Hoag Cancer Center. Sandra received the American Society Service Volunteer award in 1989, the Courage award from the American Cancer Society in 1991, as well as numerous other awards from different organizations. She is a member of the American Breast Center coalition and California Association of Family Therapists.
