Meeting Topic

Understanding SIL Standards and Relays in a Hazardous Area.

SIL Safety Integrity Level SIL

The presentation this month is about the need for Safety Standards in a Hazardous environment, terms used in safety requirements calculation and examples as how to determine the Safety Integrity Level.

Our presenter is Ray Azizian, Lead Product Solution Support Safety Systems Engineer with Phoenix Contact. He will discuss products available for safety related applications (controllers and relays), and safety controller (DCS, PLC's) features & applications. Also covered will be safety relay technology and its characteristics, differences between safety and standard relays, and force guided relay technology & operation.

Ray has a BSEE from the University of Missouri and has worked as an IT & Electronics Instructor for Devry University and Training & Solutions Engineer with Yokogawa.
